

My Career Path: Nutrition + Computer Science

Why I Chose Computer Science After Nutrition

Why I Chose Computer Science After Nutrition

I realized that data is everywhere, even in health and nutrition. When I learned about data analysis, I found it thrilling how we can turn raw information into insights that help people live healthier lives. With my nutrition background, I want to bridge health and technology - whether by analyzing health data, building apps, or creating innovative solutions. Studying Computer Science opens that door for me to create a real impact.

Career Possibilities

Career Possibilities with Nutrition + Computer Science:

Health Tech:

- Product Analyst
- UX Researcher for Health Apps

Data Science:

- Health Data Analyst
- Nutrition Data Specialist

Public Health Informatics:

- Epidemiology Assistant
- Health Information System Developer

Research & Academia:

- Researcher for health and tech projects

Business Side:

- Digital Marketing for health startups